

Blog Mickey floats "rumored" reopen date for Disneyland

Disneyland has been internally targeting a September 28 reopening

According to blogMickey, sources say Disneyland is internally targeting a reopening of their theme parks on Monday, September 28th.

The Disneyland Resort theme parks have been closed since mid-March due to the COVID-19 pandemic and while all of the other Disney theme parks around the world have reopened, Disneyland remained closed due to state of California regulations. As a point of clarity, Hong Kong Disneyland was open for a month before being shut down again by government regulations.

Back to Disneyland. BlogMickey.com has learned that Disneyland has been internally targeting a September 28th reopening after failing to get the necessary government approval to hit their previously announced July 17th reopening date. With Orange County removed from the state watchlist recently, Disneyland was feeling confident with their late-September date, but Governor

Gavin Newsom introduced yet another set of reopening guidelines this past Friday. The new system was implemented to give the state a bit more power over the counties to prevent another premature reopening of certain business types, Newsom said.

Disneyland is said to be pushing ahead with the September 28th timeline, and in press conference from Friday Newsom said that the state is "actively" working with Disneyland and other theme parks in what the governor is calling a "very dynamic conversation". Newsom said that discussions on reopening theme parks is forthcoming and said that he would hold meetings with the theme parks late on Friday.

Disneyland has announced the cancellation of reservations announced rolling cancellations of reservations on Thursdays. Disneyland did not make an announcement this past Thursday, breaking a month-long chain of announcements.

In a recent interview with the Dow Report, Disney Parks Chairman Josh D'Amato said that Disneyland is "ready to reopen" as soon as the state of California releases guidelines and sets a date for the theme parks to reopen. In a recent roundtable in Florida, Walt Disney World Chief Operating Officer Jim MacPhee said that Disneyland "has been ready to roll since July". The Walt Disney Company has repeatedly put the onus on the state since the announcement that they wouldn't hit the previously an-

—"I love this restaurant, probably my favorite Burmese restaurant in the LA area. I'm from Burma, and am very picky with Burmese food, and this place satisfies my Burmese cravings. There are a ton of options for vegetarians. I highly recommend their fried golden tofu, rainbow salad, and Southern style noodles. But all the dishes I've nounced July 17th reopening date.

Disney has had experience with operating theme parks in this "new normal" since they reopened Shanghai Disneyland on May 11th. Disney's biggest test to date has been the reopening of the massive Walt Disney World complex in Orlando, Florida where state and local officials say there have been no COVID-19 outbreaks linked to the Disney World theme parks or resorts. Disney has also been able to successfully operate the NBA bubble where no players have tested positive since play resumed in late July.

There is no doubt that Disney has shown that they are able to operate in a safe and responsible manner given that the United States is still actively dealing with the COVID-19 outbreak.

It is important to note that the September 28th rumored reopening date is unofficial and should be treated as such unless and until Disneyland makes an official statement.

gotten so far have been excellent. A hidden gem. It appears to be a family run business, and they are one of the kindest and friendliest people I've met. The take-out tastes as good as dine-in!"
