

Astrological forecast for January 6-12

By Risa d'Angeles

ARIES: What are your thoughts and feelings about your work in the world, your profession, the work that you perform? Is it your chosen profession or are you considering a new area of service, new work, or an entirely different field of endeavor? You are climbing the Capricorn mountain, Jacob's ladder to meet the rising Sun. Remember to take others with you, to assist those below also attempting to rise up. Remember the true warrior is a spiritual disciple. Hurt no one. Help everyone. Remain neutral.

TAURUS: You may want to travel somewhere. You may (most likely) then say to yourself, "No, too many responsibilities at home.". However, you still must expand your mind, body, emotions & spirit. Like studying esoteric texts, preparing to teach, understanding our justice system (blind still), visit a library, create new artisanal foods (healthy), build an online college (with another), buy a car, cow or horse to ride over the plains toward a mountain-top where the Light is. In the meantime, take careful care of your health.

GEMINI: Actually, what I wrote for Taurus interests you. However, you're also looking at your resources, those you hold in common with another (or others) trying to create order & organization with investments, insurance, all finances influencing daily living. You're also interested more and more in wisdom teachings, thinking perhaps to travel somewhere for learning. You'll wonder who will accompany you for you need a companion. A loss may recently have occurred. It was a blessing, actually.

CANCER: It is important to ask yourself who are the important people in my life, how am I interacting with them, am I ignoring them, caring for them, resenting them, angry with them, or simply not interested in (or interesting to) them anymore. It is important to remember St. Paul's words "When I was a child I thought as a child. When an adult I put aside the things of the child." You are no longer that child. Do not get lost. The Dweller is near.

LEO: Things you have created that are now ritual and/or habitual have begun to break down into bits & pieces and you may feel disrupted by this and this may continue for several months. It is the old passing away, making way for the new. The next revolution is here and it needs leaders so look out your windows, gather your loved ones (all kingdoms) and begin to realize your gifts, talents & abilities, many & varied, can be used in service to the new era and order in the world. There are outer leaders & inner ones. Which are you? VIRGO: Where in your life do you feel there are shadows, veils, things hidden in the dark and undercover? Where in your life does light need to be radiated? Is there a need for freedom and creativity that liberates your spirit? In what way do you consider having one, small at first. Notice your concern with home, food & nurturing things. You could (are, were, will be) be an excellent gardener, especially with edible flowers & medicinal herbs. Your foundations are shifting, past emotions are high. A healing occurs. Rest more.

SCORPIO: It is important at this time of the new year to consider your communication with others. Is it satisfying for you? Do you feel kindness in your interaction with others? And they with you? Do you talk and go out and about with ease? Do people understand you or must you remain hidden? Perhaps you have felt restricted the last several years? How do you feel about the community/town/village/city you live in? Do people know you?

SAGITTARIUS: It's possible you feel like staying home for a while as you assess your self-identity. Perhaps you wonder who your friends are these days for something about friendship is both expanding yet hidden. You might feel able to chat, but after a few moments, you've fallen into a silence and quietude. You have energy, then you don't. And you feel you're climbing down the ladder and not up! You're in boat. There is no shore. You are not the captain. Yet you are. The stars are your direction.

CAPRICORN: So many things, including the path you are on, seem hidden right now and even communication seems to have gone into hiding. It's ok, it will re-emerge soon enough. It's good to remain at home as much as possible, chat with the devas, read food magazines, think of yourself as a hermit in a forest, find wild things to forage and eat, tell yourself you're preparing for the future that no one really comprehends. You think of things from long ago. You write a book.

AQUARIUS: Are there people (or friends) in a group you need to talk with? Are you preparing for the future in practical ways, which includes chatting with friends or a group? Who is your group? Do you sense the great changes occurring, however you don't quite know what the outcome of those changes will be for you will be? There are deep desires & emotions happening internally. Consider all your alternative ways of living. Do not be afraid.

PISCES: You may be sleeping and dreaming more with less daily energy. However, a new strength of purpose is developing within. You sense and feel the unseen ones all around. The past no longer holds you in thrall. As you progress from step to step, task to task, a new direction comes forth. Should you need help financially, pray deeply and imagine it resolving easily and quickly. Someone needs you. You respond with deep care and a healing comes forth.

HOLIDAY:

homes, rapid housecleaning and movement of furniture took place, including the dusting of shelves, photos, or art frames, the furniture, etc.

For the people who chose to have a Christmas tree, they selected a place to put it, and began stringing up colored lights around the tree from top to bottom, and hooked up their other colorful bulbs and seasonal ornaments.

Some people had a live tree they had purchased; and some people preferred the ease of assembling an artificial tree where they placed the synthetic branches into the specific holes already in the tree.

Grocery shopping had to be done, bringing home bags full of fowl or red meat, vegetables, beverages and assorted desserts.

After the cooking and baking had begun, wondrous aromas emanated from the kitchen. It was always amazing how quickly people "emanated" to help make Christmas cookies and/or to just "lick the pans."

Various lengths of "people lists" needed to be reviewed to determine who to send Christmas cards or Christmas letters to.

Personal messages and signatures needed to be written and the envelopes had to be addressed, stamped, dropped in the mailbox, or taken directly to the Post Office. Some wrapped packages weighed more or less than others. The correct amount of postage was due.

The same lists or other lists were scanned to determine who to obtain a present for; what to buy, how much to spend and with what monetary means; would it be paid with personal checks, credit or debit cards, or plain old cash?

We'd hang a wreath on our front door, and place pots of red-leaf, Poinsettia shrubs on the front porch. We'd find a special place to hang a sprig of mistletoe.

We tuned into one radio station that continually played Christmas music and we heard various choirs that sang all day and evening.

I remember each Christmas Eve about 6:00 pm fifteen members of our three generations family began to arrive who have had a traditional Greek MERRRRRRY CHRISTMAS every year for the past fifty years. (each one did NOT attend ALL the Christmas Eve celebrations.)

We are blessed with a great family of personal achievers, all succeeding well in their own respective pursuits. They are all well-behaved, well-mannered, ambitious, and dedicated; truly "All American kids" (14-69.)

About an hour later, after all the huggin' and kissin', we sat down to an authentic Greek dinner.

My wife, Soula, had prepared a huge pot of "avgolemino" soup

(several eggs, slices of lemon, a cup of rice, and many meaty pieces of chicken.) We also ate slices of Greek bread that Soula had baked. (I had helped in the kneading of the bread dough... even better than the "Pillsbury Boy.")

Then we'd have a slice of "spona-co-pita" which means "spinach pie." It's not really a pie but bites of cooked and seasoned spinach are delicious.

The sponacopita" was oven-baked with chopped spinach, feta cheese, and sometimes ground meat was included. All those ingredients were placed within layers of filo dough, top and bottom, and baked; then sliced, served, and eaten with delight.

Later we gathered in our living room in front of our fully decorated Christmas tree where beneath it was a large assortment of beautifully wrapped presents.

As the Patriarch of this family (89 then, 97 now), I sat in a chair and handed one present at a time to each recipient so everyone could see what the other family members received. Everyone felt great pleasure as each gift was presented to a family member.

All the colorful un-wrappings were completed in about two fun-filled hours.

Then we enjoyed various Greek pastries and sipped beverages of coffee, tea, water, or a cola.

Later, some of the family members helped with the kitchen chores, while a few others vacuumed or rearranged the furniture.

After all the "good-byes," everyone except our immediate family members, left to go to their homes.

AND NOW IS A TIME TO START LIVING IN 2021, despite the current worldwide, extraordinary, psychological, unhealthy, economic conditions we are experiencing TEMPORARILY. SMILE AND LIVE ON!
